A real big WTF for anyone who witnesses it.. words cannot describe how disappointed I am with this game, because believe it or not I actually had high hopes for this game, thinking that Eternity Studios would learn from their mistakes and boy was I wrong because of stepping forward, they decided to reverse long jump ala Mario 64 into space because everything they have done here is so much worse

Gameplay

Pretty much the same as Eternity Studio's other game Dream Dealer except it feels like you move slower and your character takes this annoying extra step after you let go of WAS or D, making climbing the only obstacle in the game very difficult, because not only is it poorly constructed, but combined with the wonky new controls and it becomes a chore rather than a fun or interesting experience

Length

This game is short, even when stopping to admire the aesthetics I got through this game in about 8 minutes tops, taking pictures of anything I can use to decorate my profile with and trying not to hurl in the one or two rooms that gave me motion sickness, which reminds me

Graphics

and wouldn't you believe it, they got worse too, going from semi-original textures to assets ripped from different sites or games and then making them so blurry that you would think that your lenses are clouded and you need to consult an eye doctor before going completely blind

END

This game is too short, too expensive, and hurts people's eyes, just like my So, you know, avoid this game like the plague unless it goes on sale for like 1.99 or lower and you really want some cool screenshots for your profile. I really like games in the concept of the wild west.

The first thing I want to mention is the story. We play for the grandfather, who tells stories about his adventures to his grandson. He tells them in a humorous manner, which makes the story more lively and interesting.

A huge plus is localization. In Russian, not only the interface, but also replicas of characters. Thanks to this you are more into the story.

Graphics at the proper level. The environment and enemies are well traced, it is clear that they worked on the animation of the enemies.

In the course of the passage, the level of complexity also changes. In the beginning you do not feel enemies, but the farther away, the harder it is.

. A unique twist on solitaire that is pitched just right to keep you playing. Highly distracting, in a good way.. Who needs GTA V ?

This game is better

4k Textures

Ok this is my first time order this so I hope this one goes well. If you like choose your own adventures, Ryan Norths stuffs, or Shakespear this game is worth every penny. Hillarious all the way through.. Really buggy for a game "made for" Oculus with HTC Vive Wands as controllers. The controlls are a mess and remind me of Fallout 4 VR. Does not seem like a lot of content for TWENTY DOLLARS. I am going to return this, this is a scam that I regret buying. Price either has to go down or quality and quantity to do has to go up.. I really wish you would add YSSY (SYDNEY) as it is a hot spot hub for a lot of flights :). Do not buy this game, its the worst car game ever. It insults You as a customer. Developer should pay You for getting it.. You're better using your money with something else. Playing OMD 2 without this booster pack is about as fun as Skyrim on consoles.. This game features some unusual elements for a Match-3-game:

- you have to completely clear the board of all tiles to win the level
- you have a finite number of moves to achieve this
- you have a finite number of tiles reappearing per column (increases with level)
- you can move tiles around without needing to match them
- you can not only move tiles up, down, left, right, but also diagonally
- you lose the level, when the last 3 tiles are not lined up, but in L-shape instead

I've played some Match-3-games before, but this one's truly a refreshing change in a world of almost identical games. Try it out, I didn't regret it!
